

Wahoo! Air For Paws kit saves another fuzzy little friend!

After rescuing and resuscitating a woman from this house fire, the San Jose Fire Department also rescued her dog and resuscitated it as well, saving both lives. We know firefighters are brave and awesome but we're stunned by their compassion for animals. Full story and more amazing photos here

FIREHOUSE[®]

San Jose Crews Rescue Woman, Dog at Fire
www.firehouse.com

Photo Story: San Jose Crews Rescue Woman, Dog at Fire

Photostory
by Craig Allyn Rose
Created: February 3, 2014

On Jan. 30, at 11:01 a.m. San Jose firefighter responded to reports of a mobile home fire at 417 Los Encinos Avenue inside the Westwinds Mobile Home Park in north San Jose.

The first unit on scene, Engine Company 25, reported heavy brown smoke showing. The crew immediately initiated offensive operations stretching an attack line to the interior and knocking down the majority of the fire.

During extinguishment the crew discovered one occupant with no vital signs. CPR was started and a pulse established. The victim was transported to a local hospital in critical condition.

An additional search led to the discovery of an unresponsive dog in the kitchen of the structure. After removing the dog firefighters began working to resuscitate the animal and were successful in their efforts.

One firefighter suffered a minor knee injury after falling through a compromised floor inside the structure.

Units on scene: Battalion 29, Battalion 1, Med 30, 4A10 Engine 25, Engine 23, Engine 5 Truck 29, Truck 1, Squad 30